

Fell Eighty Feet.
EASTON, Pa., Dec. 2.—Thomas Durhing arrived here last night from New York, and while walking over the Lehigh Valley railroad bridge at Greensbridge, near Phillipsburg, either fell or was thrown from that structure by a locomotive to the ground below, a distance of eighty feet. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where he now lies in a critical condition.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

THURSDAY EVENING DEC. 2, 1886.

COLUMBIA ALEX. McCLELLAN, of the Philadelphia Times, writes: "If Cleveland keeps straight along he will have his own successor."

GENERAL BUCKNER'S "boom" for Governor seems to have been started a little too soon, and is now "booming" the wrong way. "Boom!"

OWNERSHIP will likely secure the State Colored Normal School. The colored people have tendered fifteen acres of ground and $500 cash to that end.

An association is being formed among the old pupils of the late Prof. J. W. Dodd to erect a $5,000 monument over his remains, in the cemetery at Lexington.

The present cotton crop in Arkansas is the largest ever grown in that State. The estimated yield is placed at 750,000 bales, an increase of 150,000 bales over that of last year.

The tobacco-buyers do not seem anxious to take hold of the new crop even at the present low rates. Only about 500 hogheads have been put on the Louisville market to date.

THERE were more than 82,000,000 cigars made in Kentucky last year. The number of manufacturers in this State is placed at 2,081. They used over 735,000 pounds of the weed.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from the mountain counties, says the Republicans up that way still worship John D. White, and regard him as their strongest ticket for Governor. Oh, my!

MURAT HALSTAD, of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, thinks Cleveland is a humbug. He thought that way about Lincoln, Grant and others. His opinions are generally very incorrect.

A TOBACCO-GROWERS convention will be held at Lexington next Tuesday to discuss the situation. The opinion is strong throughout the State that there is entirely too much of the weed produced.

ALL the "rascals" have been turned out of the federal offices in Congressman McCreary's district, the Eighth, and he says the Democrats are happy. He thinks it is the duty of every office-holder to work for his party.

THERE are six hundred and fifty patients in the Eastern Kentucky Lying-in Asylum at Lexington. The employees about the institution number one hundred. The place is over-crowded, notwithstanding the additions recently made.

The public should bear in mind that the genuine diamond-lens spectacles, which have proved themselves the best in the world, bear the trade mark, a small diamond, and the name Ballenger stamped on every pair. For sale by Ballenger, jeweler.

THE people down in the Eleventh Congressional district recognize the ability and special fitness of Professor Joseph Desha Pickett for Superintendent of Public Instruction, and think he is entitled to a re-election. In this they are about correct.

THE prolonged struggle over the U. S. Marshals for this State promises to be settled with the coming in of the new year. Gross, the present incumbent, is firm in his determination to retire, and the indications are that his Deputy, Hugh Rogers, will be given the plum.

THE Knights of Labor, of Chicago, have passed resolutions denouncing the verdict that condemned the seven Anarchists to death. They further say that the courts, now-a-days, are run only in the interest of the rich. Have the Knights helped their cause by indulging in such talk?

THE State News published at Lexington is a liquor journal. It says, "Flemingsburg is enjoying an epidemic of drunkenness." The News is undoubtedly wrong. If all reports are true, there is less drunkenness in Flemingsburg now than there was before local option was adopted.

THE Louisville Commercial says that "General Simon Bolivar Buckner may get a living issue to successfully cope with as live an adversary as Senator John D. Harris." The question arises, is Buckner the man, even with a live issue to recommend him?

ACCORDING to the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the tobacco manufacturers in Kentucky during the past fiscal year were 82. They used 14,097,777 pounds of leaf, 43,445 pounds of scraps, 2,018,605 pounds of licorice, 22,98,285 pounds of sugar and 177,015 pounds of other materials.

"Free Turnpikes."

The advocates of free turnpikes are agitating the question in Bourbon County. At a recent meeting they adopted the following preamble and resolutions:

That the will of the majority is absolute, we hold to be a political axiom as old as free Government.

That taxation should be commensurate with representation only.

That no law is valid that does not have the sanction of a majority of the people affected by it.

That all laws or systems not in harmony with the will of the majority ought to be repealed.

And whereas the present system of taxing public travel for the purpose of keeping our turnpikes in repair, is a system of taxation without representation, unaccounted in principle, unequal in the distribution of its burdens and unanctioned by popular authority.

And whereas by reason of location and special favoritism, a large portion of the wealth of the county is exempted from bearing its just share of said tax—thus imposing the burden upon those less favorably situated and least able to bear it—it has become an oppression and a public grievance, which call loudly for reform.

Resolved, That we will support no candidate in the coming Legislative contest, who will not openly, publicly and unequivocally pledge himself to use every exertion to procure such legislation as will evenuate in ridding the county of the toll gate system, and placing the pikes under the control of the County Court, to be kept up by some just and equitable plan of taxation, to be hereafter agreed upon in county convention.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to confer with the friends of the enterprise in the different precincts of the county, urging them to organize and make common cause with us to the end that a county convention of the friends of the project be held in the near future, to nominate a suitable candidate to carry out the views herein enunciated.

The people of Mason County would like to have free turnpikes too, but the all-important question is, how to secure them under the present state of affairs.

MANY of the papers that were praising Judge Wall during his candidacy are now engaged in abusing him. This is characteristic of those who find on kicking a man when he is down. Judge Wall is the peer of any man who now tries to belittle him.—Republican Enterprise.

Yes, and vastly the superior of those who belittled him during the campaign, and filled their columns with the meanest personal abuse of him.

CHAS. TULLIVER is said to have violated his pledges, just as most people believed he would, and returned to Morehead within the past week, though secretly. The situation up there is not what the peaceful and law abiding would like to see. An outbreak between the factions is expected any day. Logan, who was shot from ambush not long ago, is recovering.

JUDGE COLE has decided that the local option law of Fleming County is constitutional. The question came up in the trial of the case of the Commonwealth against George S. Stuckard. Mr. Stuckard is a distiller, and was charged with a violation of the law. His attorney claimed that the law was unconstitutional, but the court decided the other way, and fined the defendant $100 and costs. The case may be taken to the Court of Appeals.

SENATOR BECK doesn't believe in taking the tax off whisky and tobacco. He thinks there are other ways of relieving the burdens of the people. He says: "I would reduce the tax on sugar a little, take the duty entirely off wool and woolen goods. The duties on iron should be scaled down; also on glass. Then, again, the pottery schedule is too high, and should be materially reduced. Of the articles I have enumerated, we can reduce the revenue $70,000,000."

THE "sole editor and owner" is ever ready to seize upon the most trivial pretext to make capital for his party. He pitches into the new revenue law in his last issue. He should save his pen, ink and time for a better purpose. No revenue law that was ever adopted gave universal satisfaction at first. This is the history of such legislation. That there probably are some objectionable features in our new law, need not be denied, but these will be trimmed out in due time. We suggest to Brother Davis to give the law fair treatment, and look at its many excellent features, as well as its few bad ones.

THE "owner and sole editor," in commenting on the Legislature, the new revenue law and the State Board of Equalization, is led to express his opinion "that the farmers of Kentucky will open their eyes to the enormity of Democratic extravagance one of these fine days."

"Enormity of Democratic extravagance?" Will the editor of the Enterprise please particularize a little and tell his readers of some of this "enormity of Democratic extravagance"? While he's about it, we suggest that he tell of the enormous cost of criminal prosecutions in Judge Finley's district for the last fiscal year. Tell your readers, Mr. "editor and sole owner," that Judge Finley is a Republican—which is true—and then tell them that the cost of prosecuting criminals in his district last year amounted to the enormous sum of about $25,000, while in this district, with a Democratic Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, the cost for the same period was only a little over $4,000.

had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the Bazar.

The ladies of the M. E. Church, South, will open their Bazar in the January

Block next Saturday morning, and will display for sale a full and elegant assortment and variety of fancy articles, all of which are made by themselves, and are guaranteed as to quality. As to beauty and attractiveness they feel that they can defy competition. They make and will have on sale a variety supplied of fresh, home-made candies, and will take orders for such, as well as for fine cakes for Christmas. Persons making holiday purchases should not buy until they have seen this stock. Those who fail to see these offerings will miss bargains.

Ohio River Bridges.

It is said that the new year will see many changes in the operation of roads which use the existing bridges across the Ohio. That at Louisville is controlled by the Pennsylvania through its ownership of the Jeffersonville, Madison and

Indianapolis, but Mr. C. P. Huntington is the moving spirit in the construction of new bridges, which will be used by other companies beside those controlled by him. The Ohio and Mississippi propose building a short line to enable it to make a connection, and the Louisville,

New Albany and Chicago propose to use the same bridge. This will deprive the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis of another good customer. Mr. Huntington is also to build a bridge across the Ohio at Cincinnati for the use of the Cheapeake and Ohio system, and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, recently purchased in his interest. Mr. H. S.

Ives, who was the agent in the latter purchase, says that he has been offered

$1,000,000 for his bargain, but he did not care to sell. The preferred stock issued by the company will enable it to purchase additional equipment, of which it stands much in need. The Cincinnati bridge is not likely to be finished next year. It is to be 135 feet above low water.—Chicago Times.

What Blackly Hall Says.

Of all the silly, weak, vainly proud, wear-

some and obstinate beings on our globe, none is more to be pitied than the chestnut tree. The town has gone with it. Every where a man, a woman, a child, a dog, a cat, a goat, stands guard with his little bell to interrupt and annoy any one who does not to his level of tactful imbecility. In the district, as well as in the street—everywhere, in fact—one hears the tinkling of the bell, and feels the force of the fool going lumbering with delight at his head, and every where a good story or a clever talker to an absent and irritated stop.

To one who has been away from New York, and who has seen the chestnut tree in its latest state at the full tide, the effect is enervating and morose. Since you return I have known some who can no longer talk, think, or write, bring from comedian to a standstill by their little bells, and then loudly at their own exhibition of ill-bred and clownish impertinence; I have seen a timid but capable country assailed by the turbulent tinkling of curish idiosyncrasy and the grating of stage freight, while the grating of the bell in the orchestra chairs sent up peals of laughter at her disfigure. It is the triumph of show and imbecility over good breeding and decency.

The fool is abroad—the yawping, noisy tedious, feeble and offensive fool—and he waves the chestnut bell.—Blackly Hall in
